Shrinking school budget Board trims late bus, buying, special ed.

By WENDY HANSCOM

In response to cut-back state aid checks, SAD #44 administrators are planning to trim the special education budget, eliminate all non-essential purchase orders, stop out-of-district field trips and reduce late buses.

The school board's finance subcommittee reviewed the slated cuts with the full board Monday night. The committee had worked with district administrators to put together the cut list.

The board did not vote on the reductions. Once the budget is approved it is the central office's responsibility to make ends meet, Superintendent Dewaine Craig said; therefore, no further vote was needed.

Administrators reduced the special education out-of-district placement budget by $50,000. Craig said the move was easy now, but it was possible that a student who needed special services could move into the district, which would require extra funding.

Eliminating all non-essential purchase orders for the rest of this school year should save $69,130, Craig said. Stopping all out-of-district field trips will save $14,000.

Reducing or eliminating late buses will be the last thing to go in this round of cuts, said finance committee chairman Nancy Dewing.

Several board members said they felt student participation in after school sports would drop if the buses were eliminated.

"To find the money we had to cut where it was likely to have the least impact to the student body and the education of the student," Dewing said.

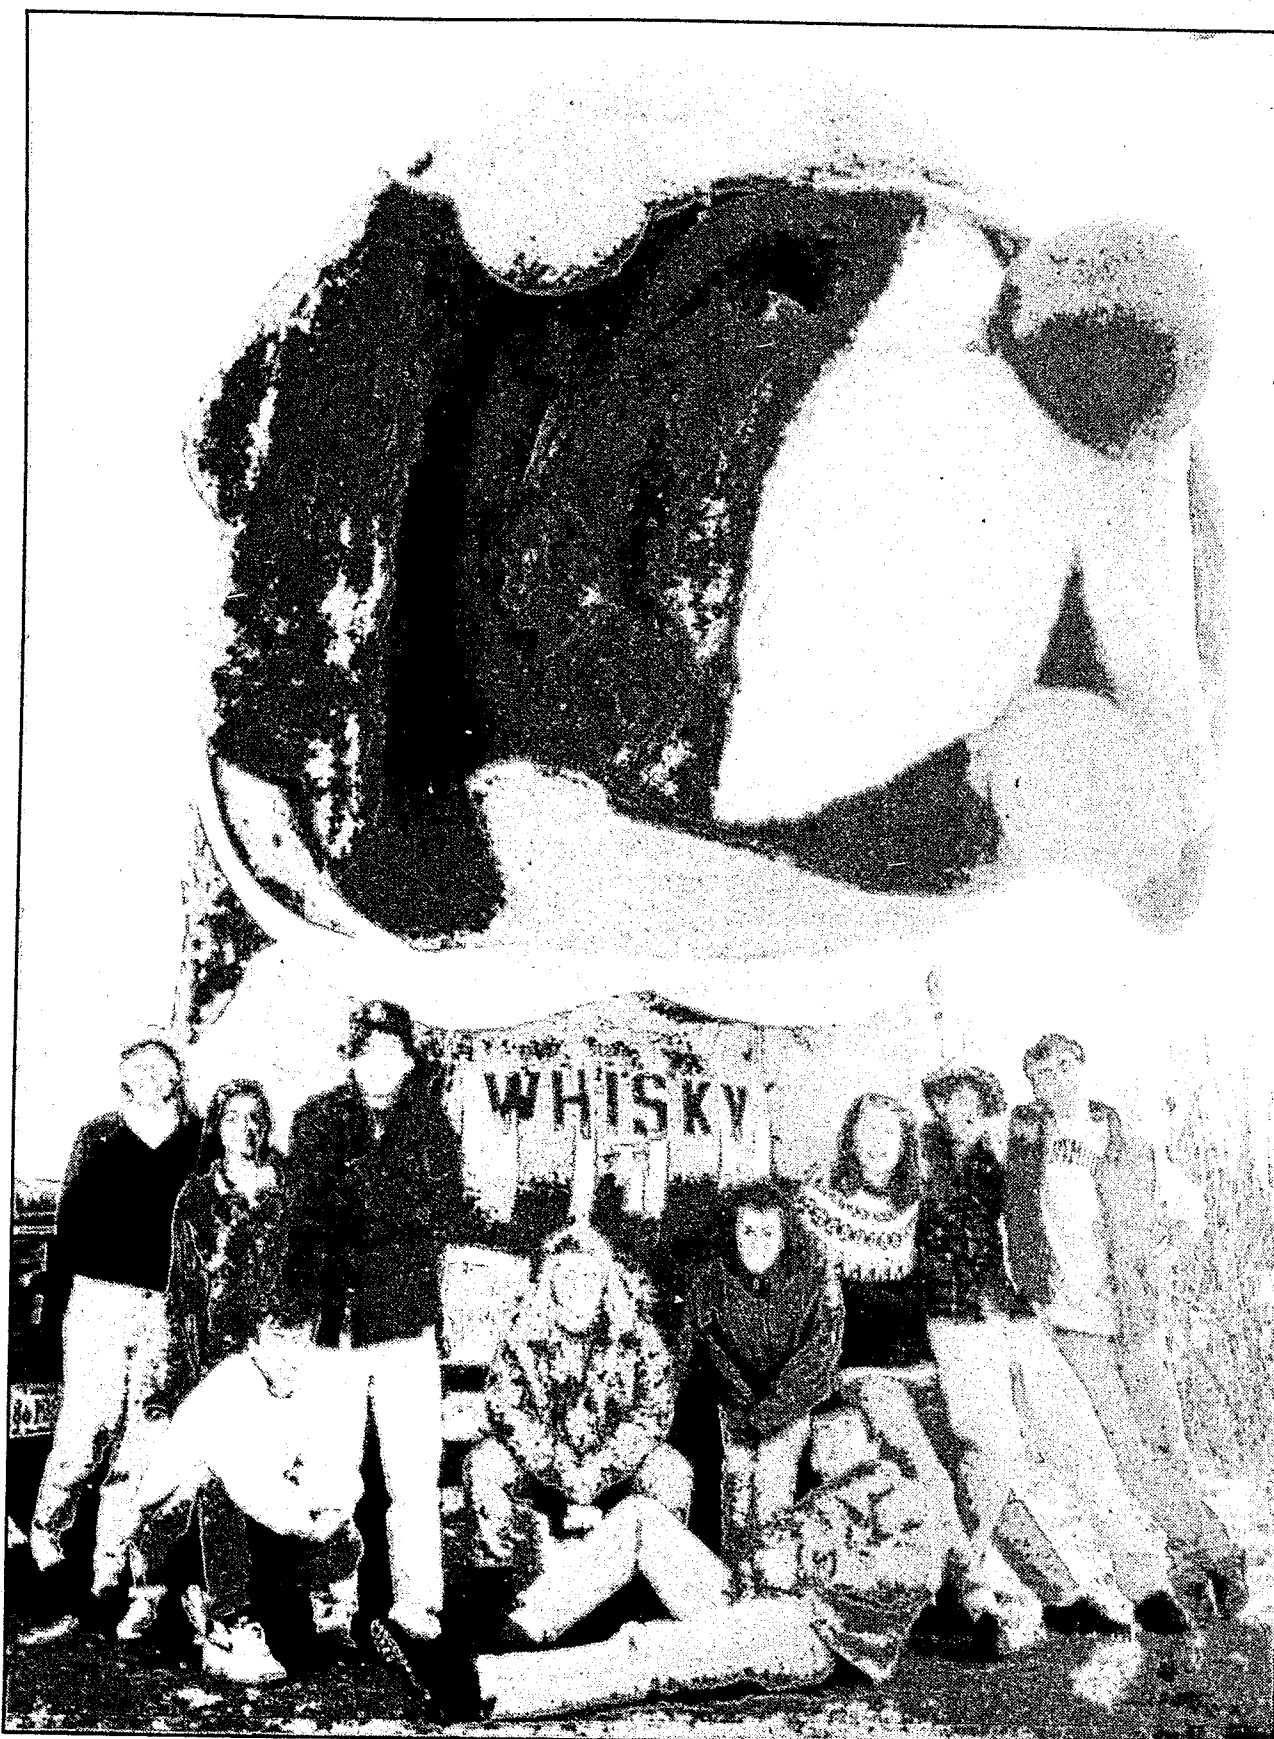

"We felt that these categories upset the least number of students as possible. By choosing these categories we felt this was the most orderly way to address this. Many high school students have other options (to late buses). There's really a small percentage that would be affected. It's mostly the middle school that would be affected. No decision is a good decision in this situation."

Craig added, "(Late buses) will continue until such time that we're cut. That will cost us a diminishing return though."

CO2 levels still high

The board also reviewed the latest carbon dioxide testing in portable classrooms.

West Paris will still elect road boss

By MARK SHANAHAN

The West Paris selectmen's bid to take control of the town's highway department was foiled last week, when, by a margin of two votes, residents opted not to replace the post of road commissioner with a so-called board of road commissioners.

The residents' decision to retain the right to elect a road commissioner, by a vote of 65 to 63, overturned a previous agreement reached at the March town meeting whereby the selectmen would act as a board of road commissioners. The previously approved article, which was to go into effect in March, 1992, called for the selectmen to hire a road foreman to carry out the directives of the board.

However, the issue was reconsidered last week after Danny Littlehale, a member of the town's road crew, drafted a petition claiming that residents were "confused" by the wording of the original article. Littlehale's petition was signed by 80 West Paris residents.

At Tuesday's special town meeting, residents in favor of the switch to a board of road commissioners expressed concern that the current road commissioner, Robert Coffin, is not accountable to selectmen. Coffin, who has served as the town's road commissioner for 20 years, has routinely exceeded the highway department's budget, former selectman Phil Hyam charged. "He spends the money and if there isn't enough he'll go to a special town meeting and get some more," Hyam said.

Tough breaks dunk Rebel hoop hopes

By WENDY HANSCOM

The Telstar High School basketball team worked hard during the off season to improve their play and ultimately their chance at a tournament berth—but now Coach Carroll Higgins said the team will be lucky to break .500.

The diminished expectations are due to pre-season personnel losses, which cost the Rebel's two scheduled starters—Tony McKillop, who broke his arm, will be out for the season; and Josh Otten, who transferred to Gould.

McKillop, a 6-foot-4 senior center, suffered his injury while fighting for a ball during Telstar's first pre-season scrimmage, against Gould Academy.

"Mackillop was struggling for the ball after a rebound," Higgins said. "The referee blew the whistle and Tony relaxed, but the other kid pulled one more time and Tony's arm broke. I've seen the same thing happen a 100

No nuke dump here Local towns are off site list

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Towns in the Bethel area are no longer being considered as possible sites for a Maine low-level nuclear waste dump.

The Maine Low-Level Radioactive Waste Authority (MLLRWA) last week narrowed its list of potential dump sites to 29—in the process eliminating all but two potential sites in Oxford County, one in Dixfield, the other in Paris.

The MLLRWA's initial list of potential sites—announced just over a year ago—overlaid portions of 143 towns, including Bethel, Greenwood, Woodstock, West Paris and Milton Township. At that time, however, the MLLRWA said further screening was underway, and that only a relatively small number of these towns would remain on the list following an expected "second cut" of potential sites.

Last week, officials in all the first-cut towns in the Bethel area received a letter from MLLRWA Director John Williams stating that their towns were no longer under consideration.

"The purpose of this letter is to inform you that no possible sites have been identified in your town," Williams wrote. "Accordingly, I do not anticipate that any further work toward finding a low-level waste disposal site will take place in your community."

Word that local towns have been removed from the site list came as a relief to local residents and officials. From the first, most local people expressed doubt that any area towns would survive the bureaucratic winnowing process that will ultimately lead to the selection of a dump site for the state's low-level radioactive waste.

"There was no way we were going to be selected," said Bethel town manager Madeleine Henley.

But even the slim possibility that a local town would be selected "was always a worry hanging over our heads," said Greenwood selectman Marie Bartlett.

"Now," she said, "we can breathe a sign of relief and move on to other problems."

The MLLRWA plans to further screen the list of 29 potential sites and to select 10 to 12 candidate sites by February 1992.

Final site selection is to be completed, and construction on the final site begun, by 1996.

Maine generates approximately two boxcar loads of low-level radioactive waste a year, most of it from the Maine Yankee nuclear power plant in Wiscasset and the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard.

Maine's low-level waste is currently shipped out of state, but the states now accepting the waste say they will no longer take it after January 1993. And federal law requires that by 1996 all states either have their own LLRW disposal facility or have a contract with another state to accept their waste.

Central Maine Power Company, which owns the Maine Yankee plant, has volunteered to have the Wiscasset site serve as the state's LLRW disposal site.

Chamberlain Resort goes on the auction block— via national satellite

The Chamberlain Resort on Route 2 in Hanover will be auctioned off Thursday by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC)—via a nationwide satellite link-up from Dallas, Texas.

Yet another victim of the recession and real estate bust, the Chamberlain will be one of more than 175 properties to go on the block Thursday.

The auction will be held in Dallas, but potential bidders will also be able to participate from four satellite locations across the country, including one in Boston.

Mary Jo Kennett, of Kennett

Resort was completed in 1989, but in the deteriorating real estate market the 20 condominium units—priced at $75,000 to $88,000—sold slowly.

In late 1990, Kennett said, the project developer, Erik Nelson, turned the resort over, in lieu of foreclosure, to the Boston bank that had provided the construction mortgage. At that point the bank, The First Mutual Bank of Savings, had $2.8 million involved in the project, she said.

When the bank itself failed in January 1991, the resort was taken over by the FDIC. Since then the Realty in Bethel, is acting as agent for the property. She will attend the Boston auction to represent the FDIC.

The purpose of Thursday's auction is to liquidate the real estate assets of failed banks taken over by the FDIC. The property list for the auction includes industrial, office, multi-family, and retail properties, as well as hospitality properties such as the Chamberlain.

Most of the properties are in the Southwest, primarily Texas. The Chamberlain is the only property on the list from Maine.

Construction of the Chamberlain property has been managed by Scott Management Co. of Bethel. According to the inch-thick information package Kennett has prepared for the potential bidders, the Chamberlain is expected to sell at the auction for between $479,000 and $753,000.

Kennett said she has received 100 or so requests for more information about the property, which has been advertised in major newspapers

Letters to the editor

NICE JOB, RANDY

To the Editor:
I would like to congratulate Randall H. Bennett on his recent publication, "Bethel, Maine: An Illustrated History." This is one of the best works that I have seen and read in a good many years. This book belongs in most every household.

Looking at the photos of Main Street 20s and 30s would make most of as old timers feel kind of sad. How I wish that those buildings and stores were back there today.

The younger generation doesn't realize what we had in this town at one time, but most everything is gone now and nothing will ever come back to replace it. A job well done, Randy.

CONCENTRATE ON POSITIVE ACTIONS, NOT CRITICISM

To the Editor:
I was pleased to attend the Community Conference Nov. 15. The group I worked with "Business" was so large that we separated into two units. We then reunited and compared our concerns and goals. In both groups we had the same concerns and similar goals. Edie Seashore and Kathy Newell deserve congratulations for the outcome and appreciation for all the work involved.

Mark Shanahan's article in the Lewiston Sun the following Monday I found not quite complete, the statement that town officials are not supportive of business I take issue with. I heard repetitively of the state antibusiness climate. The "town" being accused of the same attitude was voiced by a very few.

Plans, rules and ordinances adopted by the town were worked on by large groups, presented to the selectmen and voted on by a majority of the voters who attended the town meetings. To say that this engendered an antibusiness climate is to ignore the hard work of the committee members, many of whom were business people and the will of the voters.

It should be remembered that the selectmen spent a lot of time and effort to have GMM located in Bethel and that the Bethel Area Development Corp. worked with Sunday River to get it going.

We need now to put our efforts into trying to get another business to locate here. We have so many unemployed good workers just waiting.

I also noted in the Lewiston Sun article that the meeting was not attended well by the area selectmen and town managers. This is a bit unjust. Most of the selectmen work. The conference was on a Friday and from Bethel's standpoint this was also the day taxes were due and I know the of-ice was a busy place.

I think that when the economy is weak and unemployment high the easy thing to do is blame a familiar small group for our "ills." Please recognize these problems are not local, they are national. Let's concentrate on positive actions we can take together—let's not start out with criticism but cooperation.

WE VALUE ALL OUR CUSTOMERS

To the Editor:
I am writing in response to Musa Brown's letter in last week's Bethel Citizen as well as to the article entitled "Summer Tourists Wanted: Joe Sixpack Need Not Apply."
I was one of the handful of Bethel area residents and business people present at the Tourism Coalition Research meeting held at the Sudbury Inn. We were there to explain the town trends, strengths and weaknesses with Karen Davidson of Davidson/Peterson Associates, a firm hired by the Maine Tourism Coalition to assess and make recommendations of new markets and strategies for the many regions in our state.

It is a real challenge to develop new ideas and it often requires "brainstorming" where comments are made which are not meant to be acted upon until the entire process is done and thought through carefully.
I think it is unfortunate that the one perceived "negative comment" (of Joe Sixpack) of the many constructive and helpful comments was what made the headlines. Those of us who are truly concerned about the future and health of business in the Bethel area need the media's support in our effort. We are not picking and choosing who comes here or how much they spend. We value each and every customer, guest and local resident who chooses to patronize our businesses. Thank you.

AN ADMIRER, NOT A HELPER

To the Editor:
As much as I appreciate the publicity in the photo on the front page of the Dec. 4 issue of the Citizen, I feel I really must clarify.

I was merely admiring the work of Tom McGinness and Sue O'Donnell. I'm sorry to say I can take no credit for the decorations. They are beautiful, and I'm thankful for the time and energy they and their spouse put into getting the decorations out for us all to enjoy. I hope others will join me in thanking Tom and Sue for adding some holiday sparkle to downtown Bethel.

Rebel basketball

times and nobody ever got hurt."

Before the injury Higgins was counting on the big forward center to anchor the Rebels inside game, but the Rebel's outside game also suffered a blow when sophomore guard Josh Otten transferred to Gould Academy.

Also gone from last year's squad are graduates Mike Clark-Pelletier, who was the leading scorer in Telstar's history, MVC all-star forward Tim Chapman, who is playing for Southern Maine Technical College, and guard Nate Buckman.

Telstar finished last season 5-13, but Higgins said five or six of the last games were close calls.

This year Telstar will now be relying heavily on 6-2 forward Scott Higgins, who was one of the club's top scorers and rebounders last season and 6-4 center George Bethel. Both are lettermen.

Two other returning lettermen will take over the backcourt. Seniors Victor Hart and Troy Wing replace Clark-Pelletier and Buckman as guards. Junior forward David Barnes rounds out the squad. Barnes played last year, but did not letter.

Higgins said the team's biggest weakness will be the fact that this season's team was built around players who won't be there. "It's going to take time to get the play at the level we need to play at to be competitive in the league," Higgins said. "Our training focus will be the same as it always is. We'll work on all aspects of the game. We just hope we can be competitive, if we have a .500 season we'll do well."

The Rebels opened their season against Winthrop High School Friday. MVC coaches predicted in the preseason that Winthrop will place first in the MVC this year, and that prediction looked good Friday, as Winthrop had no trouble trouncing the Rebels 70-47.

But on Monday the Rebels evened up their record, beating Madison High School 52-47. After three quarters Telstar was behind 40-38, but coach Higgins adjusted his defense and held the Bulldogs to seven points in the final eight minutes of the game.

Rebels Scott Higgins and Victor Hart scored 13 points each. Higgins also had 10 rebounds. George Bethel added nine rebounds and 12 points.

Help wanted for annual Bethel Nativity play

Organizers of the annual Bethel Nativity play need actors and people to help behind the scenes.

The group is also looking for a baby to play the Baby Jesus. Other help wanted includes dressers, actors, production people and more.

Anyone interested in participating is asked to contact Carl Hansen at 875-3109 or Harry Morton at 836-2536. The Nativity play is scheduled for Dec. 22.

REMEMBERING PEARL HARBOR—Ed Roach, American Legion Department of Maine Americanism Officer, read the Pearl Harbor Proclamation from the American Legion National Organization to those gathered to remember the local ceremony. Two Harbor survivors, Henry Robertson of Bethel and Floyd Keniston of Bryant Pond attended the local ceremony. American Legion Auxiliary member Jeri Greenwell lit a candle in memory of Bethel's Stanley Allen, who died that day. Prayers were said for all war dead and for lasting world peace.

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

This week marks the beginning of my second year in Bethel's Town Office. In honor of this milestone I would like to express my appreciation for the gentle welcome extended by so many of you to my husband and myself. I would also like to take this opportunity to thank the employees of the town for their patience and perseverance; it is not easy, I know, training a new boss. Finally, I want to convey my gratitude to the board of selectmen for allowing me the chance to demonstrate my ability to manage a community as diverse and demanding as Bethel.

On a more mundane level, allow me to explain the status of the revised Shoreland Zoning Ordinance. Bethel's Shoreland Zoning Ordinance Committee has worked hard and long to complete a revised ordinance which incorporates the state's guidelines in as painless a manner as possible. The public hearing was held on Dec. 2, and the Special Town Meeting to take up this matter is scheduled for Dec. 30. Remember, the current law requires each town to adopt new shoreland zoning provisions which are at least as strict as the state's model before Jan. 1, 1992. However, there is very good reason to think that this law will be thrown out before year end.

Should that happen, the Special Town Meeting on Dec. 30 will be canceled. The Committee will then rework the revisions to delete the unwanted state mandated restrictions on property use, and the desirable amendments will appear on the warrant of the regular Town Meeting in June of 1992.

Forgive the confusion, but when the state makes up its mind what it requires from the town, Bethel will be in a position to meet the requirement. Many thanks to the members of the Shoreland Zoning Committee for their time and efforts.
Madeleine Hanley
Town Manager

CO2 levels

Tests conducted in April listed all of SAD #44 portables as among hundreds in the state having higher-than-recommended levels of CO2. In November district officials said that air exchangers installed over the summer should eliminate any possible harmful levels of the gas. Tests done again in November show, however, that most portable classrooms are still near what the state considers unacceptable—1,000 parts per million (ppm) of CO2.

Administrative assistant Bruce Powell said that beyond installing the air exchangers there wasn't much the district could do.

"There is one classroom that needs immediate attention (Dee Rand's first grade at CPS) and we're going to install an air exchanger in it," Powell said. "The state suggests that we run the exchanger all the time—we're doing that now. Beyond that, their suggestion is that with cracking the windows that should take care of it." Powell said Rand's air exchanger should be installed over the Christmas vacation.

Powell added that when the district borrowed a CO2 tester from Schiavi's Leasing to do their own classroom testing they were surprised by another reading. "The outside air tested at between 600 to 800," Powell said. "Our other findings in the classrooms were comparable to what the state did. We just happened to turn it on outside and that's what we got for a reading." On the state's report to the school, they recommended improving air quality in rooms with readings as low as 900 PPM.

"The limits in the state of Maine are the most stringent in the country," Powell said. "If we can get close to a 1,000 limit—and I'm not sure we can do better than that—it appears to me if we can hold it to that level we can accept that."

Powell said students in portables did not complain of illness last year and there was no above normal incidences of illness this year. The state lists possible side effects of high CO2 levels as: above 1,000 ppm, stuffiness; above 1,500 ppm, headaches, stomach upset; above 2,000 ppm, fatigue; above 2,500 ppm drowsiness and above 3,500 ppm, dizziness.

New credit level

The board also gave Superintendent Craig the authority to borrow $430,000 from Key Bank of Maine.

The board approved a similar authorization in July for the district to borrow up to $200,000 from Casco Bank. Casco Bank was sold to Key Bank and Key Bank asked to review the district's line of credit. Following the review Key Bank offered the higher credit line.

Personnel

The board also approved the following personnel appointments Monday: Claire Carver, Amy Chapman, Nathan Bean and Gena Morgan as substitute teachers; and Mary J. Corliss as a substitute food service worker.

Absent from the meeting was Woodstock director Debra Paul. Susan Gordon has been named the new Greenwood director. She attended her first meeting Monday. Gordon is finishing the term of Ivan Roberts, who resigned from the board in August.

Dana Hanley will seek District 15 Senate seat

Three-term State Representative Dana C. Hanley has announced he will seek a seat in the Maine State Senate in the 1992 elections.

Hanley, a Republican from South Paris, said he is pursuing the Senate District 15 seat because he feels the Senate is in need of a fresh voice representing western Maine, and stronger efforts to bring efficient government to Maine.

Three SAD #44 towns—Greenwood, Woodstock and West Paris—are included in District 15. The seat is currently held by Sen. Donald R. Twitcheil, D-Norway.

"I have always been an advocate of legislative reform, whether in the form of shorter sessions to preserve our Citizens' Legislature, elimination of legislative junkets, fewer legislators, repeal of unwarranted legislative pay raises, or term limitation goes, I feel that six years in the same office is enough, then you either move on or move out," Hanley adds. "It would be hypocritical of me to fight for term limitation and then not abide by it just because the majority of Legislators won't make it the law."

Legislative reform has been an "uphill battle," but Hanley said he believes that, "If the Legislature were to take our state motto (Dirigo—I lead) to heart, these reforms would go a long way toward curbing waste throughout the remainder of Maine government." Hanley emphasized that, "Had the Legislature not spent so foolishly and expended so much in the 1980s, we would not be hurting so much right now. I think Maine's financial catastrophe has made it clear to more people that a legislature that cannot spend taxpayers' money responsibly is a dangerous thing."

"It's hard to justify an all-expense-paid trip to Orlando, Florida when people are being laid off and doing without," said Hanley, referring to last year's legislative junket. "I'm not one to cover and remain silent when something is wrong. I've never flown on one of the legislative junkets, and you can rest assured that I never will."

Hanley is a graduate of Oxford Hills High School, Colby College, and the University of Maine School of Law. Hanley is active in a number of community organizations, including the Norway/Paris Kiwanis Club and the Oxford Hills Chemical Dependency Services Coalition. He is a deacon at the First Congregational Church of Paris, a incorporator of Stephens Memorial Hospital, a board member of the United Way of Oxford County, a member of the Paris Business Association, the Paris director for the Oxford County Regional Solid Waste Corporation, and a trustee of the Paris Hill Historical Society. He is also a founding member of Mainers Back In Charge.

Hanley, who was raised in the Paris area, lives in downtown South Paris with his wife Debra.

In addition to the three SAD #44 towns, Senate District 15 includes the towns of Bridgton and Harrison in Cumberland County and the towns of Brownfield, Buckfield, Denmark, Fryeburg, Hartford, Hebron, Hiram, Lovell, Norway, Otisfield, Oxford, Paris, Peru, Stoneham, Stow, Sweden, Sumner, Waterford, and the unorganized territory of Southern Oxford County.

Senator Mitchell to speak in Rumford

Senator George Mitchell will meet with students at Mountain Valley High School in Rumford on Dec. 20 at 8:10 a.m.

The meeting will be open to the public.

Mitchell said he hopes to discuss issues the 102nd congress will face in the next session, such as education, the environment, health, defense and spending bills.

Chamberlain auction

across the country. And a number of potential buyers have made the trip to Bethel to inspect the property, she said.

The major attractions of the property, she said, are its quality construction, nearness to Sunday River Ski Resort and successful rental program.

The auction brochure describes the Chamberlain as follows: "Currently being operated hotel style, the offering consists of 20 two-bed Victorian condo units and a one-bed manager's unit. Situated on 215 acres only minutes from Sunday River Skiway, one of the top 10 ski resorts nestled in the Longfellow Mountains. Quality construction throughout. Considered a highly marketable property."

Kennett said she expected that whoever bought the Chamberlain would turn it into condos and run a highly successful rental program. Units at the resort currently rent for $165 a night, double occupancy, during holidays, $135 a night on non-holiday weekends and $95 midweek.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

"Christmas with the Masons" was once again the feature of the December monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held on Dec. 5 at the Dr. Moses Mason House.

The house was once more decorated as it might have been in the early 19th century with boughs, berries, fruit, ribbon and candles. Those who assisted with the decorations were Judy Haskell, Persis Post, Helen Morton, Lorrie Hoeh, and Geraldine Howe. All served as hostesses during the event and Dr. and Mrs. Mason were once more portrayed by Ernest and Betty Perkins. Hot mulled cider and Christmas "goodies" were served in the museum's winter kitchen and group singing of old time Christmas songs was accompanied by Virginia Walker at the piano in the meeting room.

During the business portion of the meeting president Jane Hosterman announced that the long-awaited illustrated history of Bethel arrived this week and would be distributed at the forthcoming reception on Saturday, Dec. 7, where author Randall Bennett will autograph copies of the book. It was also announced that a bonus book, "Bethel, Maine Cemeteries" would be given with each history purchased as long as the supply lasts.

President Hosterman announced that the next meeting would feature the always popular "So You Think You Know Bethel" on Jan. 2, 1992, where she and John Brown will defend their championship won last January. She also called attention to the fact that the 1992 Bethel Historical Society calendar is now available and that a new addition to the museum store, "The White Mountains: Place and Perception" is now available at a special price of $9.95.

Mrs. Hosterman announced that the 25 percent off sale on purchases in the museum store of $10 or more on everything except the new Bethel history. She also said that those bringing in the weekly ad from the "Citizen" could save another $2 on any purchase.

The president brought to the attention of those present a poster made by the local Brownie troop following a visit to the Dr. Moses Mason House. She reminded members and friends that the bequest from the estate of Marion F. Hall has been received and by vote of the trustees will be named the Ralph S. and Marion F. Hall Special Projects Fund; only the interest will be used to fund special projects of the Society approved by the Board of Trustees.

Society Director Stanley Howe announced the "Artifact of the Month" which was a card table from the 1950s with advertisements from many Bethel area businesses, many of which are no longer in existence. This was a gift from Bear River Grange of Newry.

During the program portion of the meeting, Stanley R. Howe showed some of the slides made during the past year of old photographs as well as some of Society events and activities during 1991. Christmas refreshments followed the program.

December is membership month at the Bethel Historical Society. Dues notices to all members went out in late November. Society members receive a number of advantages including the Society quarterly, "The Bethel Courier."

Despite the snowstorm on Dec. 7 more than 70 appeared to pick up their book at the reception honoring publication of "Bethel, Maine: An Illustrated History" by Society Curator of Collections, Randall H. Bennett. Operating the store were Arlene Lowell, Millie Jackson and Geraldine Howe while Persis Post had charge of refreshments. Many books were autographed. Remarks were heard from Society Director Stanley Howe about the success of the project, from president Jane Hosterman and from the author.

Roger Godbout and his wife Rachael, owners of Smith and Town Printers of Berlin, N.H., were also present and received congratulations from those present for the fine appearance of the book. The book is now available at the regular price of $39.95 plus tax. Members of the Society get a 10 percent discount and those with the "Citizen" coupon get $2 off.

NOT RUDOLPH, BUT A RED-NOSE CONVERTIBLE—was Santa's favored form of transportation Saturday, as he arrived at the Bethel common at the end of the "Country Christmas in Bethel" parade. Ed Kennett piloted Santa's sleigh, while elf David Smith brought up the rear. The Saturday's snowstorm made Santa's ride a bit chilly, but the snow made a perfect background for the many holiday events that were scheduled throughout the area. And Santa returned later in the day to help light the tree and to pass out treats. Right, Rob Matteson, Robert Graham and Danielle Bernier, from the Telstar High School Junior STRETCH group, help to deck one of the common trees for Saturday's celebration.

W'stock taxes paid quickly

Town Manager Vern Maxfield told selectmen last week that about 72 percent of the town taxes have been collected. The town's tax deadline was Monday.
Maxfield said an annual interest rate of 12 percent is assessed on unpaid taxes. "Historically, residents of Woodstock have paid their taxes on time," he said. "But I was especially pleased this year, considering the state of the economy."

Selectman Pamela House said the board is acting now instead of at the annual town meeting in March because the matter should be taken care of within this fiscal year.
Road commissioner and selectman Percy Monk said the most serious damage done by the hurricane was around Shagg Pond, Concord Pond and Granite Lake.

Maxfield also told the board that $2,500 of the $3,600 raised to rebuild the public wharf on Lake Christopher has been spent.
The selectmen said the rest of the money will be used to build a 24-by-4 foot floating seasonal dock, which will be placed off one end of the wharf this spring.
The next selectmen's meeting is scheduled for Dec. 17 at 5 p.m. at the town office.

West Paris

Hyam said Coffin overspends on such items as salt for winter road maintenance. Last year, Coffin used 300 tons of salt at a cost to the town of $40 per ton. By comparison, the town of Woodstock, which has a road foreman, used 120 tons of salt last year Hyam said.

However, residents opposed to the switch said selectmen should not expect Coffin to be accountable.

"If you don't know where the money is going, it's your responsibility to find out," one resident said.

After all had spoken who wished to, moderator Vernon Inman dropped his gavel and spoke "as a citizen." Through the microphone, Inman appealed to the assembled crowd not to relinquish their "right and freedom" to elect a road commissioner for themselves.

Following the vote, many residents, and the two selectmen present, said they felt Inman had unfairly swayed the vote by addressing the crowd from the podium.

Also Tuesday, West Paris residents approved taking $2,025 from the undesignated fund balance to pay for overdrafts in the hydrant rental and street light accounts.

HAMMERING HOME AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE—Agnes Gray School teaching principal Bil Koch pounds in the sign post warning that a drug-free zone surrounds the West Paris elementary school. The Anti-Substance Abuse Act of 1988 makes it a Class A crime to use or traffic drugs within 1000 feet of a school. The sign was erected at a recent ceremony attended by pupils, teachers and parents, as well as representatives of the Oxford Hills Rotary Club and the Maine State Police.

Pharmacy & Your Health

David Preble, Prim's Pharmacy
Anabolic Steroids and Teenage Athletes

The use of performance enhancing drugs by athletes continues to be reported. Anabolic steroids and amphetamines seem to be the focus of most media reports.

Anabolic steroids are commonly referred to as "male hormones." Some teenage athletes have been told that steroids will improve performance. A recent study of over three thousand male high school seniors indicated that 6.6 percent use or had used steroids. Over two-thirds indicated that they were 16 years old or younger when they started using steroids. Teenage athletes should know the following about these drugs:

1. Anabolic steroids do not promote muscle growth in boys or women. Large doses of steroids may stimulate muscle growth in men.

2. It is not known whether or not steroids improve athletic performance. Even if physical strength increases, it has not been shown that strength alone improves athletic performance.

3. Potential side effects of anabolic steroids include aggressive behavior, premature halting of bone growth leading to shorter adult height, liver dysfunction, and liver cancer. Steroids can lead to death.

provide students and parents with a most informative program.

These speakers will share general information on student financial aid opportunities in colleges, vocational institutes, universities, and other post-secondary educational institutions. The types and sources of student aid available for student and families will be discussed as well as practical advice on how to apply for student aid.

With today's cutbacks in federal student aid and the escalating cost of further education, this workshop holds special importance for prospective college applicants. Adults considering enrollment in college either part-time or full-time in the future are also welcome to attend.

CPS PTA Notes:

In lieu of our regular December monthly meeting, the Crescent Park School P.T.A. will host a Christmas social. All parents and teachers of Crescent Park School students, plus interested community members are cordially invited. Although we normally provide babysitting, this holiday event is for adults only. We will resume our babysitting services again at our Tuesday, Jan. 21, 6:30 p.m. meeting.

There will be a membership table set-up for those wishing to join the P.T.A. and pay $3 membership dues. Also, a reminder that all Spirit Raffle money should be turned in to Robin Gundersen, P.T.A. treasurer.

We will have the pleasure of listening to the C.P.S. chorus under the direction of Linda Stowell. The date to mark on your calendar is Wednesday, Dec. 18, 7 to 9 p.m. at the Bethel Inn Conference Center.

Another special event of the evening will be the final drawing of the "Spirit Raffle." We will draw the following winners: 4—$20, 2—$50, 1—$100, and 1—$500. As a special Christmas bonus, we will award an extra $10 to any winners of this final drawing that are present at the Christmas social.

Please join us for Christmas punch and hors d'oeuvres.

East Stoneham

By ELEANOR NELSON

Steve Fox, Eddie Millett, and Joshua Jones got deer the last week of hunting. The snowplows and sanders have been busy the past couple of days taking care of the first snowstorm of the season. It really looks and feels like winter now with the snow on the ground.

Carolyn and Walter Heino went to Massachusetts on Monday on business and while there had lunch with our former Stoneham neighbors, Jan and Frank Gross of Redding, Mass.

Ed and Bette Barker left on Sunday morning to go to Florida for the winter as usual.

Troy Nelson visited his mother in Mechanic Falls over the weekend. Albert Nelson, Sr. took his new dog "Asta" to visit Gladys Kilgore on Tuesday. As everyone knows, she loves dogs as well as all animals. She still misses "Floyd" calling on her.

Stoneham Rescue Service has put up their Christmas tree and are currently accepting donations for lights in memory of loved ones, also to honor favorite or deserving persons.

Monday night Stoneham selectmen voted to try and recoup the $9,642 expense fees incurred by the auditors who discovered that money was missing from the town funds. This brings the amount to be repaid to $28,500. Former town clerk was indicted by an Oxford County grand jury on a charge of theft in connection with the town money that is missing. A trial is expected to take place in January. Plans are still underway concerning the closing of the Albany Township solid waste landfill that Stoneham uses. A committee will select an engineering firm next Monday night. The State Environmental Protection has ordered the dump to be closed by Dec. 31. Selectmen have set Jan. 13 as the town's public budget meeting. Darlene Dunn is holding a tupperware party on Friday evening, Dec. 6, at the home of Loretta Andrews in Bartlettboro. I believe that Cathy Andrews of North Conway, N.H. is the demonstrator. Andrea and "Gus" Filibrown have recently sold their trailer home and on Sunday they and family moved into the Inez Barker home. They will be there temporarily until they build a home on their lot in town.

I guess winter has roared in for sure. The snow I don't mind, but the wind and cold I can do without.

Jim Heath got a 14 lb. buck on Thanksgiving Day.

Grace Gibson and daughter, Theresa, had Thanksgiving dinner with Esther Crockett. Grace is living with Esther for the time being.

John and Penny Kittridge went to Whitefield for dinner with their parents on Thanksgiving Day.

Dana and Millie Jackson were in Yarmouth on Dec. 1 to visit her niece, Eva Blake and her daughter, Kari. The Jacksons had dinner with Sharon and Elva Lundberg in Oxford on Thanksgiving Day.

Bob and Gloria Crockett entertained Arlene Harrington, Judy Smith and son, Dirk, from Bucksport, Gary and Esther Fuller and daughter, Shannon from Locke Mills, Wayne and Wilma Bean with daughters, Staci and Jennifer, Lynn Boschetti and son, Jay, and Carole Mason for Thanksgiving dinner. Some of the ladies and girls left for Ledgewood to visit Chet Harrington.

John and Sue Tefter from Exeter, N.H. were at their camp, near Chris and Cyndy Olson, for the Thanksgiving weekend.

David Clough, from Manchester, Mass. has his new chalet-style house almost done. He is working on the inside now and has his supply of wood for the fire laid up. His new home is across the road from Chris Olson's.

Barbara Honkala has undergone surgery at CMMC. She is recovering very well and should be home this week.

Bus riders to Rumford on Wednesday were Gertrude Hutchins and Anne Fox.

Florence Hall has returned home from Rumford Hospital where she has been a patient for two weeks.

Elizabeth Sennett is visiting her daughter in Thomaston.

Mary Thurston was in Hollis for Thanksgiving Day.

Alfred Marston visited Aunt Florence on Sunday.

Gertrude Hutchins was a guest of son, Robert and family for Thanksgiving dinner.

Thought for the day: To worry about your age is silly. Every time you're a year older so is everyone else.

Calvary Congregational Church It was our privilege to have as guest speaker, Harold Duff from Thomaston. He presented a series of messages: Jesus as Prophet and Priest and King. Scripture was used to hear these truths. Our lesson should be that we bend our knee and yield our will to Christ the King that He is, not to the one we want Him to be to fulfill our own selfish interests. The law of God in our hearts reinforce the conscience of Mankind.

The choir sang: "Who is He in Yonder Stall."

On Dec. 8 there was a special Christmas story with a movie "Ben & Eddie" during the whole Sunday School hour for youths and adults.

The Annual Sunday School Christmas program will be held Sunday, Dec. 22. Details to come.

Do you realize how many famous people came from Woodstock? There was a Governor of Maine, a President's daughter, an Episcopal Bishop, a local author, a noted painter, a Civil War hero, and an Army General. There are many others but we will list just a few. Larry Billings gave the Historical Society some material on Columbus, a book on New England cities: Boston, New York, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, London, Rome, Paris, etc. He hopes some people will find the information useful. Ruth Cox's short talk on travel made him think of this. Franklin Grange gave the museum an autographed quilt made years ago. The quilt was made in the 1880's, apparently it was first made to raise money to build the grange hall. It was placed in a position of honor on the sofa of the museum's furniture collection so people can read the names. The Historical Society meeting will be held on Saturday, Dec. 14 with a potluck supper and exchange of gifts.

The Universalist-Unitarian Church will be closed until further notice.

Franklin Grange will meet on Dec. 16 for a meeting and Christmas party. They have only one meeting a month during the winter.

The Woodstock Extension will meet at Alice Hoyt's on Wednesday, Dec. 18, at 1 p.m., for their Christmas party. Refreshments will be a tasting party.

Stanley Andrews is expected to arrive home Friday from New England Rehabilitation Hospital in Portland. He and Mrs. Andrews will be with their daughter Bethany Shannon, and her husband at 38 Smith St., West Paris, 04289.

There's a world outside my window/Far removed from all around/Where I feel a transformation/As a soul where peace is found./As a hesitating mortal/Underserving so much/I behold ethereal beauty/That has felt the Maker's touch. (Betty B. Choate)

Every tree, fence, and piece of grass that could raise its head was this morning, Dec. 4, covered with snow, our first of the season. The trees looked like fairy creatures of darkness. On this side of the pond they were huddled together.

The world was wrapped in white. Playing with the wind, it was a sheeted ghost across the open places.

The red and gray squirrels outside my window are active every minute. A gray just came down a tree and dug for some sunflower seeds. How did he know where to dig? Then to my window sill he came, peeked in through the window and darted away.

The red one is less dignified and more folksome and loquacious. The appearance of anything unusual, if after contemplating it a moment he decides that it's not dangerous; he bounds with mirth, snickers and chatters, darting up a tree to a limb, where he dances to the music of his own cackle. As he capers about in his best style, he seems to tease for attention. One year I had one that would come on to my knee as I sat on the steps and fed him.

So winter has come with shining lacework. We have crossed an invisible boundary and are entering the last quarter into which the 12 months of our year are gathered.

If you marvel at the beauty of summer you will find cause for the wonder of Nature in winter.

What a nice surprise to wake up to what looks like a good morning for a change. Not all cloudy as have been most of the mornings lately. We can appreciate a good day when it comes along with all the dreary ones we have had this fall. Hope the sun shines all day and for the next few days also. Got a trip to Portland tomorrow and it would be nice to have sunshine to travel in.

Peggy got home on Tuesday from her week in Georgia at her grand daughter's home where she saw her latest great-grandchild and saw her christened. Had a good flight both ways I guess from what she said.

No dancing for Russell and Peggy on Saturday evening but in the afternoon, we all went to visit Mary Smith who's birthday was Dec. 1. Peggy had baked her a pie and we went down. She has been having back trouble and not getting around as before so Peggy got some lunch for her as she had not had any when we got there. Charlotte Cole was with us and we had a sing along to entertain Mary and she enjoyed it.

We were glad to be able to do that for her. Peggy also did up some dishes for her. All but me had a piece of the pie and said it was very good. I couldn't have any of the peanut butter cream pie as I am allergic to milk etc. Anyway, I didn't need it as I have enough weight as it is.

We had guests for Thanksgiving dinner. Michael and Wynona Woolf and girls were up as well as Michael's sister Jeanne and her family. Brother Tom joined us also and we sure had Fannie Baker will soon be operated on for cancer in her stomach. They previously operated on her leg for cancer and grafted on the necessary skin which is healing good. She has been in Wolfeboro and Hanover, N.H. hospitals since the last of June.

Herbert Hatfield from Franklin, N.H. was down to see his mother, Marjorie Hatfield at Ledgeview Memorial Home on Saturday and called on Marianne and Leslie Gammon of East Waterford. Charlie and Jeannette Knight were at the Gammons visiting, also.

Marcia Smith of Presque Isle called to wish her mother, Lorraine Mills, a happy 58th birthday, which was on Saturday, Dec. 7. She says the cold there is unbelievable but she's still glad she's not in Pensacola even if the temperature there is a balmy 70 degrees.

In other news of the Charlie and Jeannette Knight family they called on her cousin, Jason Smith and Phyllis, Thursday evening and their grandson, Bruce Campbell of Pigeon Hill, has been hunting with Charlie this fall.

MAINE'S EMS SERVICE OF THE YEAR AWARD was recently presented to the PACE Paramedic Service. Show here with the award are PACE Director Dwight Corning, far right, and some members of the award-winning PACE staff.

PACE ambulance service wins state award

PACE Paramedic Service, a Department of Stephens Memorial Hospital, in Norway, has been named Maine's EMS Service of the Year by the Mid-Coast EMS Regional Council. The award was recently presented at the Maine EMS Conference in Rockland.

PACE, an acronym for Paramedic Alliance for Community Emergencies, received the award for "system excellence and community service" and was cited as an innovative leader in the field of Emergency Medical Services. Although PACE is relatively new to the Western Maine area, it serves, within its first 16 months of operation, PACE has become a center for EMS education in Western Maine, providing hundreds of hours of training to Emergency Medical Services from surrounding towns.

"We are extremely pleased to receive this award," said Dwight Corning, director of PACE. "Teamwork is the real core of our service. We strive to work supportively with area Emergency Medical Services so that together we can meet the needs of the people of Western Maine. Part of that support is through education and training classes that we offer at PACE."

Corning continued by saying that "in the year and a half that we have been here, PACE Paramedic Service has been very well received by the community. We have responded to nearly 2200 calls and we have increased ALS availability to the surrounding Oxford Hills region while significantly reducing the subsidies provided by the towns."

PACE's dedication to community service and involvement stretches beyond the Oxford Hills region. PACE Paramedic Service played a major role in the formation of state protocols for External Pacemaking by EMS teams. With input and direction provided by PACE personnel, Dr. Susan Torrey, medical director of Emergency Services at Stephens Memorial Hospital and Chip Boehm, Maine PACE training coordinator, guidelines for external pacemaking were established and very recently several services in Maine have been approved to provide external pacemaking in the field.

PACE also provides special training programs for its own staff, as well as area Emergency Medical Services. A wide variety of courses are offered throughout the year. Personnel from area services have taken courses at PACE in ambulance vehicle operation, wilderness EMT training, emergency medical dispatch and various EMT recertification courses.

In closing, Corning extended his appreciation to PACE's staff of 22 paramedics, 17 EMTs and to all the members of the Oxford Hills community who have worked with PACE, enabling the paramedic service to provide the highest level of emergency medical service available in Maine.

"This award recognizes not only PACE Paramedic Service, but all those who work with us on a daily basis to provide the best medical care possible in the pre-hospital setting. It is the combined effort of these very dedicated people that has made such a tremendous difference in the quality of health care available on the EMS level in Maine."

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

Don't forget the Christmas Concert to be held Thursday, Dec. 12, at 7 p.m. in our gymnasium. All classes, the chorus, and the orchestra will be performing. Students, parents, relatives and friends are cordially invited.

Monday was an exciting day and one for which we had been waiting. The prizes earned during our fall fund raiser arrived and were presented to all who had earned them. Parent volunteers Michelle Blake and Jean Richards presented the prizes, and served ice cream sundaes to grades one and five, which were the top selling classes from each building.

The Northeastern Schools Company provided a variety of prizes, and were also responsible for awarding the prizes to the top four individual salespeople. Catherine Richards of grade one was the top salesperson, bringing in $221. She received the Nintendo Game Boy. Ryan Dillingham, also of grade one had the second highest sales, $125, and he received a see through AM/FM stereo cassette player. Brandi and Buddy West of grade five tied for third place with $88 each and they both received a stereo cassette with headphones.

Our parent coordinators, Jean Richards and Michelle Blake, along with our whole staff, wish to thank everyone for their support and generosity. A total of $1892.05 was raised and will be used for field trips and enrichment activities. All students will benefit.

Classroom news this week finds the kindergarten children practicing the letter H in their workbooks and being introduced to the letter I. The new letter will be learned with the usual variety of methods and will include making them out of pretzels. In math they are making a countdown chain, counting off the days until vacation. The boys and girls are getting ready for Christmas by making cylindrical Santa tree ornaments. Both classes are getting ready for independent writing.

The first-graders are bringing in their turkey wishbones and are listening to the poem "Wishbone Wishbone" by Jack Prelutsky. In math they are working with variations of the ABC pattern, such as AABC or ACBC. They are being introduced to new pattern stations with colored pasta, buttons, unifix cubes and geoboards. In reading they have a new game called Riddle Me and are learning to make words out of sounds. Another fun game is called Race to Erase, which involves finding words from a given clue. A social studies unit, the Symbols of Christmas, is underway and will evolve into a Christmas booklet.

In grade two Crystal Farris is the special helper of the week. The second-graders are working with the long sound of A and their spelling words are focusing on ai and ay. In math the children are learning about area by estimating and discovering how many beans will cover a given area. In connection with the emphasis on our drug free zone sign, CAP, and health, the class is learning about drug awareness. They are learning when drugs are good for you and when they are not, and safety practices involving medicines.

The third-graders are working with the 'uh' sound. Their picture card shows a grunting bear, and their skill lesson shows the sound with one dot over the vowel to indicate this sound. One difficult thing about our language is that every vowel can say 'uh'. In math this class is also working on estimating. In estimating we begin with a large container of beans, chips, marbles, etc. to make one guess. Then we begin by estimating and counting one small scoop from the larger container. Then a somewhat larger container is filled with the small scoops. Estimation and actual counting takes place now and another chance is given to revise the original estimate if necessary. It is amazing how close we can come, and how good we are getting with estimating and our sense of number.

In reading the class is reviewing skills and testing in their unit on the plains Indians. In writing they are focusing on revising.

The fourth-graders are concentrating on cursive writing. So far this year they have been able to choose which mode, cursive or manuscript, whichever they liked best. Now the stress will be on cursive writing. However, Mr. Litchfield will still permit manuscript on spelling tests. Our spelling tests consist of complete sentences. A lot of writing is involved and we do want clarity in this testing situation. In science they are continuing with their construction of electric motors.

My fifth-graders are welcoming a new student, Harry Buswell. Harry chose a good day to join us as we don't usually have an ice cream party! We are working on a Christmas present project for parents which ties in as a language arts project. We can't say anymore about that at this time. We

Chamber of Commerce

Welcome to our newest member, Old Rowley Inn of North Waterford, Robert Olsonstead owner, Ray Peterson, manager.

All chamber members and friends are invited to a Christmas celebration at the Sudbury Inn from 5-7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 15. Complimentary hors d'oeuvres and wine will be available and dinner reservations should be made by Friday, Dec. 13, if you would like to stay afterward. Many thanks to have chosen Christmas words for our December spelling sentences. In reading we are learning about the chitchee, a squirrel that is interdependent with the giant sequoia tree. The story in our book was taken from an article in a 1972 Ranger Rick magazine. I found the original Ranger Rick article and brought it in to share with the class, which did add to the interest in the story.

In math we are continuing to work on different ways to add and subtract large numbers in our head. We are learning to round off numbers at the same time.

The sixth-graders are concentrating on publishing the 2nd edition of the Agnes Gray Sixers, and again they are aiming for the sixth. In health class they are beginning the study of the heart and circulatory system. In math they are working with fractions, learning about fractional parts and mixed numerals. In social studies they are continuing their study of ancient India. Their reading project of presenting their inventions to the class were due this week.

Extra-curricula activities this week included a gymnastic demonstration for parents, fifth- and sixth-grade boys' basketball practice, and a sign up for girls' basketball. Also the Girl Scouts had a field trip to the South Paris Veterinary clinic.

Fuzzie and Cherie Thurston, Jack Cronin and staff for hosting this great event.

The board of directors will meet for the regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Dec. 12, at the Casco Bank at 7:30 a.m. We would like to thank outgoing board members Ernestine Riley, Esther Crockett, Jeff Parsons and Dillon Gillies for their years of service to the chamber and to the business community. They will continue to be active in our area through the chamber and their other community affiliations.

The new chamber brochure has been delivered—quantities are available at the office for distribution. We would like to welcome Diane Wood, a Woodstock resident, to the chamber staff. Diane will be working as a reservationist for the winter months.

Many thanks to all the folks who were involved in making the "Country Christmas in Bethel" celebration such a success. The following volunteers and donors should be recognized: Carol Parker, Tom McGinniss and Cherie Thurston for their organization. Tom, Marna and Jim McGinniss, Kara and Sue O'Donnell and helpers for putting on the Christmas boughs. The Boy Scout Troops, the Bethel Fire Department and all the participants of the parade. "Bub" Wight, our beloved Santa and himself the elf, Dr. David Smith. Esther Crockett and Nancy Smith for their donation to make the Seasons Greetings banner possible and to George Bucknell of GTE for hanging it. Pat and Carl Glidden of the Bethel IGA for their donation of hot chocolate and cookies at the tree lighting and to the helpers who served it. Don Murphy and friends for the festive music at the tree lighting. Greg Bluhm of Bluhm's Aviation for donation of the trees on the common and to Jim and Tom McGinniss, Scott Dennis and the Teister STREET CH group for putting the pinlights on. The Bethel Fire Department for putting the lights on the town tree and to all the Crescent Park students and teachers for making the ornaments. And finally to Doug Zinchuk, Daniel and Brian for hanging all the ornaments in sub-zero temperatures.

Christmas decoration winners

Judges Jan Stowell and Ginny Keniston of Bethel, along with Louis Paul of West Bethel, toured the area on Saturday evening to view all the beautifully decorated homes and businesses. They noted that only a small number of decorated properties actually entered the contest and suggested that everyone be included in future years.

Of those that called the chamber of commerce to enter, the winners were picked: Residences: Rodney Hanscom Jr. on Route 26, Bethel, was chosen the winner. Elsie Davis on Chapman Street was given honorable mention for her 47 window-side candles, one for each member of her family.

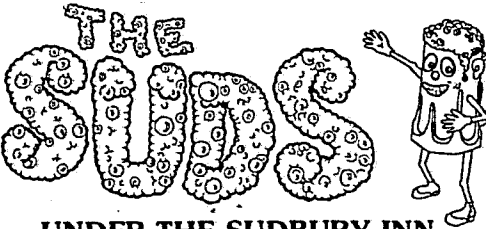

Businesses: Innkeepers Sandra and "Bub" Wight of the Chapman Inn were chosen the winners with close runners up of the Holiday House and the Norseman Inn.

They were judged on the criteria of keeping with the "Country Christmas" theme, originality and attractiveness. The judges noted that it was a difficult decision and that the new coat of freshly fallen snow made the area look "picture postcard perfect."

ed that the Christmas for Children Campaign is underway and that donations seem to be coming in more slowly this year. He urged everyone to pull together to ensure that we don't fall short of the goal in this season of great need.

Nancy Harrison reported that the County Breakfast was a great success and she thanked all those who helped with it. It was noted that the families of the Rotarians were a wonderful addition this year. She also reminded the club that the Senior Citizen dinner is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 17 at the Bethel American Legion Hall at noon.

MUNDT-ALLEN SCHEDULES ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY

On Saturday, Dec. 14, the Mundt-Allen Post #22 American Legion and Auxiliary will hold their annual Christmas party at the Post Home on Vernon Street. The activities are scheduled to commence at 6 p.m. with a social hour followed by a potluck dinner.

Members are asked to bring an exchange gift as well as an item to be auctioned. Games will be provided by a disc jockey from Lewiston.

Jackson-Silver Post #68

Members of the Jackson-Silver Post #68 American Legion met along with members of the Auxiliary at the Legion Hall Thursday at 6 p.m. for their annual Christmas supper. The meal, potluck style, as usual, was delicious. Auxiliary members had a beautiful Christmas tree attractively decorated. There was an exchange of gifts by each member, and as the old common saying goes, "a good time

BETHEL ARTISTS SHOW WORKS—Shirley Hodsdon points out an interesting detail in a painting of the Bethel area. was had by all."

Oliver Risko, member of the Auxiliary, planned a very interesting program, based on the so-called "Bill of Rights." This was in keeping with the 200th anniversary of the "Bill of Rights" officially accepted by the First Congress in 1791.

As part of the program each of the 10 amendments was read and a brief time of discussion was given to each one in turn. A very profitable and practical program.

Time was given to talking about final plans for the Post and Auxiliary celebrating the 50th anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor at the Locke Mills Union Church, Saturday, Dec. 7 at 1:55 p.m.

A brief business meeting of the Post followed the above. It was voted to have one meeting per month until April, to begin with the next meeting which will be Jan. 2, 1992.

It was also voted to allow use of the Hall by a group from the Telstar Regional High School known as "Peer Leadership Training" under one of the instructors, Rodney Abbott, on Jan. 24 from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The next County Council Meeting will be at Post 32, Norway, Dec. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

TRUCK WARS

Ford F150 trucks have outsold every other truck, each model year, for the past 11 years. But last year (model year 1991) Chevrolet came within 2% of outselling Ford trucks. So as a serious counter measure, Ford has added an $800 to $1,000 incentive to its rebate program.

The manufacturer's suggested retail price

When we sell a vehicle for less than invoice we are not losing money. What is happening is that we receive Toyota's top dealer incentive money. We keep some of Toyota's top dealer incentive money. We keep some of Toyota's incentive money as our profit and use the rest to subsidize below invoice pricing. A good deal for everyone.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

"Joy to the world, the Lord is Come!" Can you sing that this year? For some folks, the weeks before Christmas are a joyous time. "Visions of sugarplums," or their equivalent in coveted toys and clothes, whirl in kids' heads. "Ma in her kerchief and I in my cap" can't wait 'til they can actually settle their brains for that long-postponed nap—can't wait 'til Christmas preparations have to stop because it's now 5 a.m. on the 25th! But along the way, the lights and music, the decorations and stories and food, even the work of getting it ready, all bring joy.

For others, however, Christmas is anything but joyful. If you've been laid off, if a hospital stay has eaten up your savings, if you're in the grip of chemical dependency, if all your family are far away and your friends busy with their own families, if the season brings back unpleasant memories or recent griefs—then just getting through Christmas alive may be all you can manage.

"Joy to the world?" How can we sing this with the economy so bad? With memories of wars from 1941 to 1991 still vivid? With AIDS, political wrangling and other struggles weighing on our lives?

The answer is to remember what we are really preparing for.

For Christmas is our celebration of the fact that God really cares—cares so much about all of us as to have sent us Christ. Christmas is a special time in which to remember and rejoice that God has shown us divine love and power in a form we can recognize and believe in and respond to.

In Jesus we see that God suffered with us and for us; God knows what our life is like. In this person God has prepared a way for us to be reconciled to God, to become—each day more nearly—the joyful children of God we were created to be.

For all its emphasis on a Babe in a manger and devoted parents, glorious angels, adoring shepherds, wise visitors and assorted livestock, Christmas is still about the fact that God is with us. As we live out our response to that amazing grace, God does truly bring—and we can gladly sing—"Joy to the world."
